My Wife and I have spent six years advocating and promoting every possible need for the Monarch in our two counties (including thousands of them home-reared and released) in order to increase their migratory numbers. Due to our simple methods we now have thousands of new pollinator's habitats in our city and two counties thanks to the vision and hard work of our group members. We would also like to see more home-rearing recommendation by the major Monarch conservationists players in Canada and USA so that we may attract more citizen-science participants and to feel comfortable doing it instead of having to be constantly harassed and or accused of wrong doing by the few against it.
